CONNER & WINTERS ANNOUNCES NEW PARTNER AND ASSOCIATE IN FAYETTEVILLE OFFICE

FAYETTEVILLE – (January 6, 2008) Conner & Winters, LLP is pleased to announce the addition of two new attorneys in its Fayetteville, Arkansas office. Partner, Robert L. Jones, III and associate, Amber Prince have joined the firm forming the basis of a practice group serving all aspects of the motor carrier industry.

Robert L. Jones, III is an experienced trial attorney who has tried over 200 jury trials. Mr. Jones concentrates his practice in motor carrier defense, products liability, professional liability and commercial litigation. He comes to Conner & Winters after nearly 40 years of practice, where he has earned a national reputation within the motor carrier industry.

Mr. Jones attended Hendrix College. He received his undergraduate degree in 1966 and a juris doctor degree in 1969, both from the University of Arkansas where in law school he was associate editor of the Law Review. He is a member of the International Academy of Trial Lawyers and also a Fellow in the American College of Trial Lawyers (state chair 2003-2004), an honor extended to less than one percent of trial attorneys in the country. Mr. Jones is past President of the Arkansas Bar Association and past President of the Arkansas Association of Defense Counsel. He has the honor of being named one of The Best Lawyers in America, and is also recognized as a Mid South Super Lawyer.

Amber Prince has joined Conner & Winters' Fayetteville, Arkansas office as an associate attorney. Ms. Prince will focus her practice in litigation, with emphasis in the motor carrier industry, where she has gained valuable experience working with Mr. Jones since becoming a lawyer. She earned her undergraduate degree in 2004 and a juris doctor degree in 2007, both from the University of Arkansas. Ms. Prince is active with the Arkansas Association of Women Lawyers.
