Conner & Winters attorney G. Daniel Miller appointed to IRS Advisory Committee on Tax-Exempt and Public Entities

Washington, D.C. – (May 29, 2008) G. Daniel Miller, a partner in the Washington, D.C. office of Conner & Winters, LLP, has been named as a new member of The Advisory Committee on Tax-Exempt and Government Entities (ACT). The ACT was established in 2001 under the Federal Advisory Committee Act to provide an organized public forum for the IRS to receive regular input on exempt organization and employee plan policy.

Mr. Miller has been practicing in the employee benefits area since 1974, coinciding with the advent of ERISA. During the course of his practice, Mr. Miller has advised for-profit employers, numerous church denominational benefit plans and programs, large independent churches and religious non-profits on a variety of employee benefit issues. Mr. Miller will be an Employee Plans member of the ACT and is one of eight new members appointed to the 21-member committee, joining 13 returning committee members.

The official IRS release on the announcement referenced Mr. Miller's qualifications by stating: "As a specialist in employee benefits for more than 30 years, he serves the needs of both large and small for-profit employers and the deferred compensation planning needs of a variety of non-profit employers, including churches and church denominational benefit programs. He is also a member of the Employee Benefits Committee of the Tax Section of the American Bar Association. Miller received his Juris Doctor from the Vanderbilt University School of Law."
