CONNER & WINTERS WELCOMES FORMER U.S. ATTORNEY AS NEW PARTNER

TULSA, Okla. – (March 31, 2017) Conner & Winters, LLP is proud to announce the addition of Danny C. Williams Sr. as a partner in the firm’s Tulsa office.

Williams joins the firm after serving as the United States Attorney for the Northern District of Oklahoma from 2012 to 2017, where he led a department of 60 employees and was responsible for the prosecution of numerous white-collar crimes which netted large forfeiture amounts in the Northern District of Oklahoma. During his tenure as U.S. Attorney, Williams also initiated the Violent Crimes Task Force, a collaboration of local and national law enforcement agencies, resulting in the prosecution of more than 20 persons charged with human trafficking of minor children. While under his leadership, the U.S. Attorney’s Office for the Northern District filed the largest indictment in its history, with 52 defendants and 232 counts.

Previously, Williams was president and managing partner at Charney, Buss, and Williams, P.C. A past recipient of the Oklahoma Bar Association’s Ada Lois Sipuel Fisher Diversity Award in recognition of his efforts to promote diversity in Oklahoma, Williams is also very involved as a leader in the Tulsa community as a frequent speaker and member of multiple non-profit boards, including the Greenwood Cultural Center.

“Danny will be a dynamic addition to our strong team of litigators,” said Mark Berman, President of Conner & Winters. “We are excited to have him join us as we continue to enhance the services we provide our clients in commercial litigation and elsewhere.”
